Mercedes Arzu Wilson has been a strong and very active advocate for life and family values for decades. She is the founder and central driving force for the Family of the Americas Foundation. Based in Maryland, it is one of the major promoters of Natural Family Planning, particularly in China, India and Latin America.

She has organized International Congresses for the Family in many nations and has received numerous honors for her work, including being named one of Inside the Vatican publication's 10 Most Influential People in 2012.
